Welcome to the World of Numerology!

The laws of the universe influence everything around us. Everything that was made is related to numbers.

Numerology reveals the hidden meaning of numbers to us. Numerology is a metaphysical science, based on the relationships between numbers and related events. It was created more than a thousand years ago by famous philosophers. Numerology has always been treated with great respect. Every number has a specific nature that creates particular vibrations, which establish certain patterns in life. It is wrong to divide numbers into 'lucky' and 'unlucky' - they are just different. It is important for a person to look for personal numbers to increase happiness and overall satisfaction with life.

Numerology will empower you with knowledge of the universe. Cultivating your strengths will improve your vitality, your quality of life, and your relationships.

Although numerology isn't an exact science, it is an invaluable tool that helps reveal your talents and hidden potential. When we are aware of our abilities and use all available resources to our benefit, we can achieve more in life. Numerology also helps us make the right decisions. Our strengths make us powerful when we consciously use them and adapt them to our habits.

Life Path Number $1+1+1/19=3$

Life Path number refers to your destiny, the strength and peculiarities of your character, possible obstacles you can face, and weaknesses you possess. This number tells the journey of your life coded in your birth date from the moment you came into this world. Life Path number includes characteristics of your life gifted by the universe from the moment you were born. It demonstrates the skills you need to develop in order to succeed, as they were intended especially for you. Your Life Path number emphasizes the difficulties you will have to make away with. Also, it points out the opportunities that need your attention. If the person simply listens to the Life Path number, life can be changed for the better, as the universe favors those who follow the destined road.

The life of everyone is saturated with events and opportunities, and it is up to us which one to choose. Sometimes, it is better to avoid changes or make another decision, as the opportunity can be disguised and may lead to a regretful mistake in the future. Life Path number reflects the heavenly design, represented in the language of numbers. It is meant for people to use as a hint for a prosperous life.

Self-expression is your essence. You are an everlasting flame; you are sparkling "champagne"! Life Path 3 is followed by those individuals skilled in communication and are highly creative with everything they do. Most of what you achieve in life will stem from your unique expression of these qualities. You do not just understand people; you have a way of getting across to them and getting them to understand each other better.

Vibrations

Number 3 stands for the Trinity, trine, and triad, which are the three dimensions. More broadly, the number 3 symbolizes growth and multiplication. 3 components symbolize light, love, and life.

Sociality

Thanks to your self-expression properties, your sociability, and ability to entertain, you can easily win many friends. Rarely, people will not understand you or perhaps envy your gift - mostly they are drawn to you and appreciate your company. If you are having a good day, people will want to spend more time with you.

Careers

Natural vocations and careers for life path 3 are entertainer, dancer, actor, musician, performer, and beautician. You can also make a phenomenal clothing designer, floral designer, cosmetologist, hostess, salesperson, resort or club host, promoter, advertiser, imaginative writer, illustrator, photographer, work with children, kindergarten director, boutique owner, caterer, social secretary, jeweler, restaurant manager.

Lifestyle

Entertainers and storytellers, those people who sparkle in a crowd and share their optimism with others are often on Life Path 3. They appreciate beauty and sensual pleasures, harmony, and innovation. Their goals include capturing their natural talents to share them with the world.

Life is to be experienced and enjoyed, and too much worry about the future is usually not a problem. This can lead to financial troubles, sometimes, but not the extreme stress that often accompanies them. You take life as it comes and focus more on personal connections than physical possessions. Most Life Path 3 people are great socializers, open and engaging conversationalists.

Challenges

Handling the upswings and downturns of life can be your greatest challenge. You will feel stifled with overbearing leaders in control or the drudgery of repetitive work. Cut-throat competition doesn't interest you and working around or for those types of people can be difficult.

Another thing to be cautious about is becoming too wrapped up in the superficial qualities of life and practicing frivolity without purpose.

Negative Traits

As for the negative aspects of your Life Path Number 3 - beware of becoming a slave of your primitive instincts and stay away from bad relations. Life path 3 Negative Traits are scattered powers, overstatement, lack of direction, leaves projects unfinished, moodiness, and selfishness.

Positive Traits

Unlimited channels of self-expression, verbosity, keen imagination and inspiration, artistic talents, precise impressions, and insights, ever optimistic, joyful, and fun-loving.

Birthday Number 1

The birth of an individual is a real wonder that happens every day. They say that 'every person is unique' - it is true, and Numerology knows it for sure. There will be no other moment like this. A birthday Number represents the traits, area of specialization or skills you need to develop, and you will succeed if you connect your life with it. Every day of the month has unique characteristics assigned to people born under each of those days. It doesn't mean a person has no other option except to develop them, however, the journey through life will be much easier if the individual makes advances in something one has a particular propensity towards. Your birthday number can reveal your positive and negative inborn characteristics.

You need to know your birthday number because it can do the work of a compass in guiding you through life. You do not only get to know your positive and negative traits; you get to see what you could be like and the easiest ways to get the best out of life.

The birthday Number 1 is a symbol of Sun, the first of all numbers - the foundation of everything. Therefore, this number is often called "the head of the family of numbers." People born on this day are very creative and imaginative by nature. They firmly stand their ground, and they have a great power of persuasion. Therefore, they do not like any limitations, and they rarely ask for advice. They prefer to work alone, independently. Most often, people with the Birthday Number 1 do not need a manager or subordinates. They think they can do it all by themselves.

These people are ambitious. They have a great determination and a very strong will, which sometimes may manifest as being stubborn and headstrong. A child with the Birthday Number 1 will not rest until his demand is satisfied. If you don't teach them how to make their wishes come true, they may just simply turn the whole house upside down. People with this number (especially kids) need a very gentle attitude, because despite their external strength, they are exceptionally sensitive. People born on this day can reach incredible heights in their life and career, especially if they have enough support from their family.

Speaking of the emotional side, we must not forget that those born under Number 1 like to be leaders in everything. To implement it, they will use all their mental faculties. People with Number 1 will lead in relationships. They choose their object of love, and they do not give up until they win... or lose interest. Often, they fall in love with very extraordinary people.

Number 1 is never afraid to be rejected - he or she is Number 1.

Expression Number 9

Often, people believe they know themselves; however, they neglect their advantages or concentrate on their downsides too much. Most of the time, they turn into fish trying to climb a tree and often end up with very limited success. If you are yet to discover who you are and what you have at your disposal, you will waste your tremendous potential, digging where you will find no treasure.

Expression number points out your characteristics need attention, as they can be potentially harmful or counterproductive for you. It creates an image of your traits that can make you successful or can spoil everything. That is why it is one of the most crucial parameters in Numerology. This is a precious gift that can be the key to your greatness and a great tool to help you deal with weaknesses that can pose a threat to your success.

Every person has certain initial traits that were 'coded' from the very beginning of his or her life. Expression number lights them up, and if you haven't paid attention to this side of your personality, you still can develop it and significantly change your life. It is like a secret code that supplies you with information that helps you to be at the right place at the right time, doing the right thing.

Expression number is derived from your full name (first, middle, last) by finding the number associated with each letter and reducing it to one digit, 11, 22, or 33.

Wherever you are, you radiate good vibes. You have a vivid inner world, but the people around you can't understand what person you are, due to your tendency to close up as soon as you get too much attention.

You provide hope to other people and readily help them. However, you are not deeply involved with them. You have your safe distance, but still, you prefer to change this world for the better. You are a cooperative, direct, and caring person.

You need to let go of your defensiveness and try to become more open with others, because while hiding in the shadows, you also hide from the opportunities and happiness waiting for you to find courage. I know it is difficult to trust people, and they may turn against you, but they will always be one of the most important parts of your life. You need to believe there are still good people out there, and you will never know until you are ready to give them the benefit of doubt.

Minor Expression Number 3

The Minor Expression number is similar to the Expression number in the sense that both concern a person's talents and destiny. However, the difference is that the Minor Expression number is calculated by using the letters of your nickname (or short name) to figure out the final number. This can be significant because most people refer to others by their nicknames, rather than their long names. Plus, a nickname might have different letters than a full name does. This will create different values for the letters of the name and ultimately change the final number and its meaning. Just remember the Minor Expression number doesn't fully influence your future, but it fills in the gaps left behind by the Destiny/Expression number.

Even though it seems to address minor parts of life, it is equally vital in making any decision that is momentary and sometimes life altering. You may need to pay attention to this because some of the most important decision and events of your life are decided by what is termed as minor moments. The greatest influences you have are sometimes very subtle and are the products of several small influences and decisions.

Threes have a determination to inspire other people and to make them more hopeful about the future. If someone is having a serious conflict and they are not feeling very good about solving it, threes will step in and make light of the situation with humor and positivity. This makes threes very well-liked by just about everyone they come in contact with because their positive energy rubs off on those people they interact with. Threes have a plethora of friends and family in their lives. Even strangers will come up to threes and enjoy chatting with them because of the aura of positivity that flows from them.

Heart Desire Number 8/17

We all have dreams and desires we wish to come true. This is the number that helps you to bare your soul and be sincere with wishes and quests. You can find out what you want most out of life and how desperate you are. Soul Urge (Heart Desire) number brings out the reasons you do what you do. And why you do it in a such way. It helps us to figure out the reasons behind our choices and our reactions to the things and the people around us.

Sometimes, these desires might even be subconscious, which means we don't realize we have them. Every action or choice you make in your life is working toward these desires, even if you don't understand it right now. This is the significance of the Heart's Desire (Soul Urge) Number, commonly known as the Soul Urge number, because it represents these desires. To figure out what your Heart's Desire number is, take all the vowels in your name and use the numerology chart to determine their values.

This number is important because it helps you to find the meaning of your cravings and dissatisfaction, while pointing you to your greatness and success. This number helps you to focus on getting what you want, rather than getting stuck trying to discover why you want those things.

Eights have a harder time in the beginning of their lives, because they are just learning about the world and what needs to be done to make their dreams come true. As they get older and gain more of an education, they make fewer mistakes and find more successes. Ultimately, eights strive to be in charge of other people and make a lot of money doing it. They want to fulfill their dreams so much they'll do almost anything to make them come true. Sometimes, they will be impatient and take short cuts because of how fast they want to make their dreams a reality. However, this helps eights learn from their mistakes and to make better choices that will lead them closer to achieving what they want in life.

Minor Heart Desire Number 6

The Minor Heart's Desire (Minor Soul Urge) number represents the most significant and essential strivings coded in your name. To find your Minor Heart's Desire number, use the usual form of your name, not the full first name at birth, just the one you use in everyday life.

The Minor Heart's Desire number expands the meaning of the Heart's Desire number, providing deeper and more accurate characteristics to your dominant traits reflected by both numbers. Your full version of your name conceals all the desires in life, while the short form of your name underlines the most important wishes. Some are subconscious and need to be figured out; some are deliberate and well-known to you. Compared to the filters in a web-search, the Minor Heart's Desire Number sorts out your desires by their importance and helps you to figure out their scale of preference. This figure will not only show you what you want most; it will give you the opportunity to come out of your hiding place and embrace your true nature expressed in your wishes.

This number also gives you the opportunity to remove all the limitations you have set for yourself or that has been forced on you due to your experiences and what you have seen around you. It is one of those numbers that unleash your potential. So you can figure out if you are on the right path in your search for meaning and purpose.

You hope to live in comfort, prosperity, and surrounded by love. You want to make everything around you aesthetic and cozy. You have a gift to make, create, and decorate. If you still haven't tried the sphere of beauty and design, it means you have these desires concealed inside and you limit yourself. As soon as you reveal you are gifted for beauty, you will obtain another source of inspiration. You value convenience and pay attention to the place where you live, because your home reflects the state of your mind. Sometimes, you want to live in isolation; you restore energy this way and bring your thoughts to calmness.

Personality Number 1/10

The Personality number, also called the Inner Dreams number, describes your personality and illustrates the person you are. Not only will you be able to learn more about yourself and how you view yourself in this world, but others who learn what your number is can instantly learn about you from it.

Overall, you can figure out what is comfortable for you to do. To determine your Personality number, you must identify the values of all the consonants in your full birth name and then add those values. The result will be your Personality number. It shows how your character and inclinations are expressed. It shows how you relate to people and how they see you.

This is more like the number of your personal life. It controls what comes into your space and what goes out of your space. Of all the numerological signs, the personality number addresses relationships and social persona issues.

The knowledge about your personality number will help you conduct your social life with responsibility and deliberate intention. Also, the knowledge of the character number of another person will help you get the best out of having a social life with them and sharing the same social space with them.

Your personality number helps you to figure out your political style, and this style endears people to you. If you know your character number, you should be able to maximize your social skills and get the best out of any social life you fit into.

Ones are as human as anyone else, and they are bound to have failures they will learn from. They just don't want other people seeing them making these mistakes because it may mean those people won't give them the admiration they yearn for. Ones are enthusiastic about moving forward in their lives, and they are not afraid to handle bad situations as they come up. Other people look upon ones as those who are strong when handling difficult situations. Ones care deeply about how they look and how others notice them. That is why, if ones ever feel scared or frail, they try to hide those feelings from other people so they don't notice.

Minor Personality Number 6

Sixes try to help solve other people's problems if they can, which makes strangers very compelled to want to talk with sixes and ask them for assistance. Sixes comfort distressed people and show sympathy for whatever problems they are facing. Sixes care more about other people's problems than they do about their own. The intensity of their caring can get so high that sixes will feel the same pain the distressed person is feeling. That is why they constantly must remind themselves they are not going through the same pain as the person they are helping.

Maturity Number 3/12

This number is special in Numerology, as it represents the peak of a person's development, the golden period when everything one wants is achievable, and no misconceptions are left. When we are young, we see so many opportunities, and we can't choose one, or we don't have enough resources to come close to what we like to do and whom to become. The maturity number tells a story of you in your period from 30 to 40 years when your personality is fully grown, and the storm of the maximalist inside of you calmed down. Everything you wish in life is clear, and you experience the culmination of your personality.

Maturity number reflects the person you are by this time and your values, ambitions, and primary aims. Often, people read the meaning of their Maturity number in their 20s and are surprised or even shocked, as they are not even half the person described there. However, the traits described manifest themselves later. This number emphasizes the person you need to be and points out the negative characteristics to avoid. To find a goal, mission, and reference point in life, this number is there to help you.

Your maturity number is one of the best compasses with which you can plan your entire life. It helps you to develop hope and to sustain inspiration in the face of any current circumstance. With this number, you look forward to life with hope, courage, and expectations of a great life.

You will not only be protected from dangers and obstacles. You will have the tool to shape your future into what you want. When you know your maturity number, it is easier for you to escape mediocrity. If you know your maturity number, it will help you reduce trials and errors in your approach to life, make you more focused and courageous.

You will party, even when you are a mature adult. Your irresistible and charming nature asks for more adventures, but you will mostly settle down by this time. You have two possible outcomes for this period: the first is you can use your creativity for work and reach success, and the second is it can be difficult for you to find a steady place, as you will struggle with self-control in terms of deadlines and time-management. However, you understand your purpose in life, and your aim is to make your hobby into your full-time job. You can become an owner of a business if you are brave and concentrated enough. You have great potential, but you also need to learn to set priorities and work hard, as unfortunately, nothing comes free to us. By this time, you will find a new hobby that will show you an unexpected side of your personality.

Rational Thought Number 4/13

This is a special number that reflects on your thinking style and decision-making patterns. Of course, it is not one of those numbers that shows your path or your subconscious self, but it shows the mechanism of your thinking process.

Basically, it says a lot about your ability to act in stressful situations. It demonstrates the quality of solutions you find and types of choices you are prone to.

Many people can't say for sure which style of thinking they have because it is pretty hard to adequately estimate yourself. This reading will help you understand the group of thinkers you belong to. Also, it may be profitable to find the Rational Thought number of your business partner or a person you are interested in. You can elaborate strategies of communication based on the thinking style of those people.

When you think about something, you almost see the result; you can imagine it being real. You are able to correlate numerous factors to come to the right idea. You rarely mistake your first impression of others. Also, you hate the feeling of unpreparedness because it is important for you to be in control of what happens in your life. You have an implementation type of thinking. You gather, measure, and compare information, and then you make plans and do everything so they are effectively fulfilled. In some way, you've managed to categorize the chaos of your thoughts, and it has made you the person you are today.

Karmic Lessons Number 2, 3, 7, 8, 9

It is a common practice in Numerology to analyze the date of birth, the name, and the last name, calculate and manipulate numbers, digits, and even letters. We got used to the fact that every number has its place, meaning, and it is never random, as in Numerology, every position and number is intended. Karmic Lessons number is one of those numbers when the lack of presence of the numbers says something. Instead, the absence of numbers from 1 to 9 in your name determines the weak spots in you.

Karmic Lessons are called 'lessons' for a reason. The person with some numbers missing is supposed to defeat those karmic weaknesses that are the legacy from your previous reincarnation and learn the lesson this way.

With the aid of Karmic lesson number knowledge, you can see your weaknesses and work hard to minimize them before they affect crucial parts of your life. The Karmic Lesson number also helps you to accept your weaknesses and get comfortable with them. They help you understand we all have weaknesses, and knowing how to deal with them is what separates the great from the others.

Karmic lesson 2.

Your karmic lesson provided by number two is about effective communication and care for other people. There's no need to explain how important it is to be understood, to convey your thoughts adequately, and to explain people your needs, desires, ideas etc. You can say you see no problems, but karmic lesson number 2 is a sign that communication is one-sided. Often you are interested to share your problems and your situations in life, but you don't listen to others when they want to tell you the same. It brings the opposite situation, when you listen, but people are not interested in proper conversations with you. Either way, the component of misunderstanding exists. To learn this lesson, you need to imagine yourself being in others' shoes, to be emphatic, open, and sincere. People will react the same way, and you will reach harmony.

Karmic lesson 3.

The lesson of number 3 should teach you not to let your feelings prevail over your intelligence.

You may value the opinion of others more than yourself. The meaning of others should not bother you that much, as it cannot make your soul feel better. Karmic lesson number 3 is about understanding when your emotions harm you and are excessive. To be in harmony with yourself, it is needed to establish set of your principles and opinions, supported by good reasoning, so you feel self-sufficient and do not need to react emotionally. Proper management of your feelings can bring your inner world to balance and let you learn the karmic lesson.

Karmic lesson 7.

The lesson of karmic number 7 is in finding proper motivation for your development. If you are motivated enough, you show amazing results in time-management, progress, and practicing your skills. You have a lot of fears and often feel uncertain about yourself and don't even believe you are capable to do more. If you understand and accept your fears, you need to find a mentor that will reveal your potential or do it yourself. The laziness in previous life should be compensated by motivation and activity as a learned lesson.

Karmic lesson 8.

The lesson to be learned is in moderation and concentration. You live now and don't bother with future or unexpected situations that happen in life so often. Karmic lesson number 8 is about self-management and far-sightedness when making important decisions or investing essential money. For managing your material gains, you need more concentration and cold reason. If you learn this lesson, you will feel you are the master of your life and ready for many future scenarios.

Karmic lesson 9. In previous life, you were a secluded, stand-alone person, who cared little about people around. Your karmic lesson is to open the limits of your world and let others in. You can't even imagine that the most amazing thing in the world is the ability to share and help. According to your karmic lesson number, it is the truth you will need to experience to bring your soul to harmony and to open the power and meaning of your life.

Balance Number 5

Everybody has a certain style of behavior when something negative happens. Some become desperate and give in, and others fall into a rage. Balance numbers come to us in times of trouble. They show us the proper behavior to solve the problem as easily as possible and not hurt the people around us. We often lose control and make emotional decisions or say words that lead to unwanted consequences. If you want to find out how to avoid the escalation of the problem or how to fix a situation when it has already emerged, balance numbers have a lot to offer.

This number is often neglected because people don't like to think about problems until they face them, but it is really helpful for people who get into trouble often and want to find a reason for it and change it. Balance numbers bring harmony to the unbalanced condition of your soul.

Problems in your life often lead to a breakdown. This time, try to pull yourself together and add a great deal of self-management. Try to do something unusual for you. Find a completely new approach to this problem compared to other difficulties you have faced.

Accept the issue, and stop resisting or neglecting it. As soon as you understand that the problem is real and needs to be gotten rid of, your mind will start to search for the optimal solution, and it will at least save your nerves. If you neglect the problem because it is unworthy, it won't go anywhere, so pull yourself together and solve it as soon as it appears.

Hidden Passion Number 5

We all possess certain traits that characterize us more than others: the skills we can be defined by, our favorite activities, and the hobbies we are passionate about.

Hidden Passion numbers identify these traits and emphasize those characteristics that are indispensable in the sphere of our passion. If you want to find out which characteristics drive you or find the right approach to another person, take a look at Hidden Passion numbers' meanings. They show the nature of person's passion, explain striving in life, and demonstrate activities that bring the highest level of self-realization and pleasure to a person.

You focus on connecting with others because, naturally, you are a good listener and can easily argue any statement if it seems true to you, despite the authorities that stand behind it. You are polite and know the value of your skills and time. People like you never lose an opportunity to become more efficient, creative, or better at something; you need development in life like you need air to breathe. You love your comfort zone, but you regularly step out of it because it is the only way for you to progress in something. You can choose any area, and you will succeed in it because of your drive and envy-worthy motivation.

Subconscious Confidence Number 4

Most people in this life face obstacles from time to time. Even though we know which steps we need to undertake, we often fail to cope with them emotionally. A lot of people blame themselves for the problems that occur in their lives, and the emotional reaction is so strong that the problem itself seems not so big. However, most of us forget our strengths and advantages that can and must be used in situations where we need to protect ourselves or prove somebody wrong. Your Subconscious Self or Subconscious Confidence number is meant to help you emphasize those traits in you that are your keys to overcoming obstacles. These characteristics will sometimes help you solve only part of the problem, sometimes help you go through everything calmly, and sometimes be your main tool for getting rid of troubles. This number shows the characteristics that you need to develop to react to sudden troubles of any kind.

You need to learn a lesson of self-control, developing responsibility, determination, and purposefulness in you. When something unexpected happens, pull yourself together; don't let your emotions scare you and make you want to neglect the problem until it disappears. Find the main purpose in life so you know you have something to stand for, and it will serve you as good motivation to be in control of your life.

Planes of Expression

Every person has a deep and complicated construction of the inner world. Most often, some part of us is more visible than the others. In different situations, we let a particular side of our personality show. Planes of Expression show each major characteristic of our nature, creating a whole and detailed picture of who we are. There are four planes of expression: emotional, mental, physical, and intuitive. These characteristics show the type of influence this letter has on the plane to which it belongs. The planes show the most influential parts of our personality. Also, with the planes of expression, we know how to harmonize any imbalance we suffer from to make our lives happier.

Depending on your personality traits, you may have one plane that prevails, as you rely on this set of characteristics in your life more often or more intensely than the others.

Mental plane reflects on which type of thinking we have and how thoroughly we plan our actions.

Physical plane reflects the way we handle our power.

Emotional Plane of Expression shows the emotional image of you.

Intuitive Plane of Expression shows your inner world, your inspiration, and your level of balance. It is a spiritual indicator of your wellbeing.

Planes of Expression Mental Number 7, 3

You have an analytical type of thinking, and it allows you to make precise and mostly right decisions in life. You are not judgmental and produce adequate and objective opinions. Due to your intellect, you always know whether an idea can lead to failure. You are hardworking, both physically and intellectually.

Planes of Expression Physical Number 5, 3

You love to be in control of your life and actions. If you have an aim, it is really hard to stop you, as you've already made a plan on how to get it quickly. You are hard working and a great multitasker. The quality of your work is excellent, even if you were doing 3 things at once.

Planes of Expression Emotional Number 6, 1

You are compassionate and ready to share your emotions with everyone. Sometimes, you can't ignore other people, even if they don't deserve your attention, but your emotionality is your advantage: you are honest with yourself and your feelings.

Pinnacles Numbers 2, 2, 4, 2

Age span for life cycles 0-33-42-51-E

One's life can be compared to a huge river that changes its course, has different powers of streams, and has many curves. We also develop and change our direction throughout our lifetime. In numerology, we have a special term for periods of progress and development in life - Pinnacle Cycles. There are four Pinnacle periods in one's life. Each represents a certain level of maturity, responsibility, and comprehension in life. Pinnacle cycles are quite long-term, but it is important to be prepared at the start of each cycle because it will bring new events, people, possibilities, and general changes in your life. It is better to be prepared for sudden changes.

Life cycle 1 (0-33)

Pinnacle 2. This is a period of contemplation and an increased level of communication. During this time, you will explore the world both inside of you and outside. You will learn how to shape your thoughts into words and how to manipulate them to express or defend yourself. Number 2 Pinnacle reveals your inner development, a time when you need to appeal to your intuition and master self-control. If you let yourself behave too frivolously or tend to be excessive in life during this period, it will bring you no help and only can lead to problems in your life. So it is better to engage in development of your inner world understanding of processes around you.

Life cycle 2 (33-42)

Pinnacle 2. This is a period of contemplation and an increased level of communication. During this time, you will explore the world both inside of you and outside. You will learn how to shape your thoughts into words and how to manipulate them to express or defend yourself. Number 2 Pinnacle reveals your inner development, a time when you need to appeal to your intuition and master self-control. If you let yourself behave too frivolously or tend to be excessive in life during this period, it will bring you no help and only can lead to problems in your life. So it is better to engage in development of your inner world understanding of processes around you.

Life cycle 3 (42-51)

Pinnacle 4. During this period, you should pay attention to your area of specialization. It is time to increase your efforts because your success depends directly on how eager you are to work. During this period, you get what you deserve, so it is better to pull yourself together and act. If you prove to be determined and reliable throughout this period, you will essentially double your chances of reaching heights in the future. Use critical thinking and strategic skills to build up your plan step-by-step.

Life cycle 4 (51-E)

Pinnacle 2. This is a period of contemplation and an increased level of communication. During this time, you will explore the world both inside of you and outside. You will learn how to shape your thoughts into words and how to manipulate them to express or defend yourself. Number 2 Pinnacle reveals your inner development, a time when you need to appeal to your intuition and master self-control. If you let yourself behave too frivolously or tend to be excessive in life during this period, it will bring you no help and only can lead to problems in your life. Personal Year Number: 9

Each year of our lives brings changes whether we like it or not. Even after a year that seemed to be calm and even boring, we can't say that nothing happened because many events changed our lives little by little, and they made us the people we are today. If you want to know which changes are about to happen next year, the Personal Year number can get you what you need. It tells you what to expect from the upcoming year, what you should be ready for, what changes may happen, and how to behave to live a better life this year. The influence of the personal year begins in January and ends in December. A peak period equal to 3 months takes place at the end of each year.

It is a special year. In general Numerology, it is a year of making conclusions. This year will be very emotional for you. You will have to decide which people and things share your vision of life and which ones have no perspective in your life. Try to control yourself. It is important that you don't make emotionally driven decisions; keep to a rational approach. Your inner feelings will help you a lot. Listen carefully to your feeling, and they will give you signals when you need to step back, make the proper choice, say no, and wait for a better moment. You will need to analyze a lot of things, but if you make decisions, make sure that they are objective and useful for you. Otherwise, wait a year to implement all your ideas.

If you wanted to do something for a long time and have been searching for excuses to push it aside, it is time to stop procrastinating and start actually taking action. It is a time to refresh your beliefs, your old principles, and even your wardrobe. This is a year to finally make your wishes come true. This year will be nothing like previous one; it will be saturated with events and outstanding emotions. You will have to become more flexible and active this year. Old problems will be resolved because you will be quite busy building up to something new this year. It is a very important year for your emotional life because a lot of things will be revealed, and you will have to take off the rose-colored glasses to become happier than you were before. It is time to understand which approach is better for the next few years as number one starts a new phase.

2025 (2).

During this year, you will experience a recession of activity compared to the previous year, but it is a time to concentrate on the other side of your life. You need to think about your communication with others. You will definitely meet new people who can influence your life and add inspiration and freshness to it. It is important not to rush into important decisions this year. Take your time and think twice before making any kind of conclusion that can impact you materially or emotionally. This is a year when it is better to relax, plan, and think more about yourself and your development. It will bring you lots of mundane work. It is a good time to find a sport you feel comfortable in and will help you release tension.

2026 (3).

A number 3 year is the time to prepare for a good time. It will be rich with interesting events in all spheres of your life. People around will finally appreciate your efforts both at work and in relationships. You may face some difficulties with friends due to misunderstandings, but closer to the end of the year everything will be improved. You will be in a whirlwind of events and work, and you don't have that much free time this year, but you will enjoy it. If you have free time, it means that you decided to stay home. Avoid spontaneous actions and decisions because during this year the consequences from inefficient self-management can be substantial. Try to make this year as easy as you can and think of ways to make your time-spending more efficient.

2027 (4).

This is the year associated with a realistic approach and hard work. You will have to stand up for yourself to prove that you are impossible to fool, so everybody who doubted your strength will be disappointed. This is a year without illusions, a time when the long-term authorities are compromised. You have a lot of ideas that you've been thinking about for a while, and this year is the time to develop and polish them. Pay attention to the number of hours you sleep; you will need a lot of energy for multitasking and making influential decisions. Romantic relationships will have to step aside because you will have too many tasks at work that need your attention.

During the number 5 year, you will feel the upcoming surge of strength in you. Your life now is in an active phase where you are surrounded by many events and happy moments. It is a year of new contacts, which will be very useful to you in future. At work and in romantic relationships, some changes are possible. You may go through a stressful situation, but if you prove that you are flexible enough, everything will change for the better. You will have an emotionally saturated year, and to make it as positive for yourself as possible, you may need to repurpose your strength and stick to what you know is right for you. At the very beginning of the year, visualize your goals, think of the best version of yourself, and concentrate on the image you have. Remember it during this year and do everything to achieve it step-by-step.

This year, try to be more specific in your goals, what you need, and what can make you and the ones you love happy. Set priorities and don't think about the way others might react to them. It is a year of self-care and relationships with the people you love. Pay attention to people around you; they may need your support. Always put yourself first and avoid giving up your own interests for others'. Try to maintain peace inside of your soul; make this inner chatter calmer and take the focus away from it. Follow your reactions in the heat of the moment and make sure you never cross the line and have nothing to regret afterward. If you have some running projects, it is time to think about their completion. Both your work and intimate life will need more attention from you. It is a year to maintain inner balance and harmony in relationships with others so that you have a solid foundation and a place to relax.

During this year, you will need to cope with your inner contradictions. If you are dissatisfied with a particular aspect of your life, such as work, your place of living, or the people around you, it is a proper time to find out what influences you positively and how to change your life for better. It is a year of self-care. It is possible that you will find a new hobby or sphere of interest this year. You will be bothered by many unresolved questions that you have been thinking about for years, and they will reach culmination this time. It may seem that number 7 brings only inner meditation. However, it will open a path to major changes in your life.

During this year, your life will be filled with interesting undertakings. Finally, everything seems to be working fine. Long deferred royalties and awards will find you. At the end of the year, you will be stunned by the number of events that influenced you. You may need to make a pivot in your life and change everything this year. Your social life will be reconsidered as well. The interest in your life will be increased. People will pay more attention to you because of your experience and knowledge. You will understand where you want to settle and will definitely know what you plan to do for the next few years. Due to your energy and enthusiasm, all your undertakings should bring some considerable results and come closer to the end.

Personal Month Number: 1

Though we tend to think in years when reflecting on our lives, in reality our lives go by day by day, gradually and seamlessly. Days are the element which influences the big picture. What is waiting for you in the next period? What goals do you need to achieve today to ensure your future?

What would it be better to bypass? How can you use your time in a more effective manner? If you want to find out which daily and monthly steps will make your life better over the course of time, take a look at your Personal Month and Day number's meanings.

This is a great time to start something, for example by implementing ideas, making decisions, or arranging meetings you postponed. Actually, it is an amazing time for any undertakings. However, you need to make sure you set your priorities straight. Try not to put all your effort toward urgent but irrelevant things. You must value your time. No tasks from others should be valued above your own set of priorities. Think more about your desires and real needs. At this period, the universe encourages your actions, and rewards hard work and self-care. If you feel you have an idea you want to accomplish but you are waiting for the right time, don't hesitate and take action now because it is a fruitful time for you.

You also might be the subject of impulsive desires by scattering yourself between many tasks, and of obstinacy, the tendency to be more non-compromising than usual. Some days you might feel anxiety and doubt.

The time has come when everything needs your attention. You are in control. It is important to have a step-by-step approach in order to avoid being overwhelmed or failing. Such a period is often described as unsettled, when you have too much going on and self-discipline is crucial. However, when you feel that your inner resources have run low, you need to take care of yourself and take a day off because your inner harmony should always be a priority. The outer world is a direct reflection of the way you feel inside. Hold on to the things and people that keep you inspired, motivated, and yet disciplined. It is important to stick to your schedule and become more organized.

During this period, you might encounter the following challenges: more limitations, less focus on important things, frequent irritation, and moodiness.

Colors to wear: green, blue, gray, turquoise or light brown.

This time is filled with exciting events. You should try to plan all the things effectively in order to extract the full potential from this period. Feel free to seek help from other sources like apps, gadgets, and software to assist you with task-tracking and planning. It is all about work-life balance. If you manage to tackle all the arrangements at work, you will enjoy amazing free time filled with interesting events, long and meaningful conversations, delicious food, and exciting emotions. Also, you need to remember the physical side of your life: proper diet, health, sport, and outlook. This is a fruitful period, and it is in your best interest to organize your time effectively.

Your possible challenges might be hastiness, vulnerability, and the inability to pull yourself together.

Colors to wear: red, turquoise, pink, black or blue.

It is the right time to think and care about the people around you. You can be a good listener and a person to rely on. It is highly likely that the people around you will need someone to speak to. They might be tired and depressed. By helping others in their time of trouble, you will become fulfilled and contented. Your main virtues are patience, strong listening skills, trust, and communication. You will socialize a lot. During this period, you are going to discover new sides to your friends. You will discuss your dreams, aspirations, and everything that is on your mind. So, it will not be a one-sided conversation and you will not feel used.

You have enormous emotional capacity. If you have wanted to tell your loved ones something for quite some time, it is the moment to do so.

Possible challenges might involve a sense of regret, nostalgia, egotism, and an inner dissonance.

Colors to wear: bright red, yellow, mustard, sea green and silver.

6/2024 (7).

It is an important time to be on your own. You need to recharge, so an overestimation of your social resources might lead to unwanted consequences. It is better to take time off as soon as you need it. This time should be spent on inner reflection, recharging, resting, sleeping well and being in good company. One of the most important things to understand during this time is what makes you calm. Some people relax by watching a movie, watching the same TV-series again and again or listening to certain music. People dive into arts and crafts, meditate, cook, or even drive. You need to find out for yourself the activity that you can immerse yourself in and which relieves tension. During this period, when doing what you love, there is a good chance that you'll come up with an idea that will improve your life drastically.

Some obstacles on your way might be detachment, poor anger-management, skepticism, and uncertainty.

Colors to wear: violet, purple or turquoise.

7/2024 (8).

In this period, you might experience an increase in the flow of energy passing through your body. This is a time to implement ideas from the past that have waited for your attention. Any piece of work you do will be rewarded. So, you want to make sure you are only working on important things. If you have wanted to implement something for a long time, but have had some obstacles in your way or have postponed it for numerous reasons ? it is a favorable period to start. One of the main reasons for your success is your inspiration and inner drive combined with hard work. The universe multiplies your actions, so you need to undertake something to get a positive reaction.

Possible obstacles might be dishonesty, greediness, financial problems, aggressiveness and self-absorption.

Colors to wear: beige, tan, golden, grey-blue or lime green colors.

It might be a rather calm period when you need to direct all your resources inwards. Your exterior will be the same, and a lot of people will not be able to tell that you are going through inner changes. It is a period of high sensitivity and you might find yourself overreacting. It is crucial to avoid confrontation and conflict. Any aggression will be an immense pressure for you, so try to concentrate on self-love and the things that make you calm and organized. Comforting and warm conversations with people who get you are the key to feeling instantly better. Take some time to think about the right direction and the strategy of your life, destiny, and calling. Meditation and listening to music will help you unwind.

Possible challenges: aloofness, inertia and self-centeredness. Colors to wear: gold, lavender, olive, green and red.

9/2024 (1).

Personal Day Number: 9

10/26/2023 (9).

It might be a rather calm period when you need to direct all your resources inwards. Your exterior will be the same, and a lot of people will not be able to tell that you are going through inner changes. It is a period of high sensitivity and you might find yourself overreacting. It is crucial to avoid confrontation and conflict. Any aggression will be an immense pressure for you, so try to concentrate on self-love and the things that make you calm and organized. Comforting and warm conversations with people who get you are the key to feeling instantly better. Take some time to think about the right direction and the strategy of your life, destiny, and calling. Meditation and listening to music will help you unwind.

Possible challenges: aloofness, inertia and self-centeredness. Colors to wear: gold, lavender, olive, green and red.

10/27/2023 (1).

This is a great time to start something, for example by implementing ideas, making decisions, or arranging meetings you postponed. Actually, it is an amazing time for any undertakings. However, you need to make sure you set your priorities straight. Try not to put all your effort toward urgent but irrelevant things. You must value your time. No tasks from others should be valued above your own set of priorities. Think more about your desires and real needs. At this period, the universe encourages your actions, and rewards hard work and self-care. If you feel you have an idea you want to accomplish but you are waiting for the right time, don't hesitate and take action now because it is a fruitful time for you.

You also might be the subject of impulsive desires by scattering yourself between many tasks, and of obstinacy, the tendency to be more non-compromising than usual. Some days you might feel anxiety and doubt.

Colors to wear: red, orange, terracotta, purple.

10/28/2023 (2).

Your interpersonal relationships should be a priority during this period. Try to spend more quality time with people you love. For example, go for a walk and dive into deep conversations. Do the things that enrich your soul. Lots of things will come undone for you. It will be a great time to remember. It is the best moment to let your hair down and concentrate on growing your inner strength for the future. It is a perfect time for any kind of advancement: self-improvement, courses, sports, new hobbies, new skills and projects. It is essential to stay away from conflict and misunderstandings. Rage and aggression will only disrupt your inner balance. Use this time to take care of yourself and stay emotionally harmonious.

You can also feel unease, anxiety, argumentative, and a desire to overreact. You might overthink things that are not worth your time and energy.

Colors to wear: gold, white, black, yellow or salmon colors.

This is a period to enjoy art, culture, and the sensitive side of life. It is important to surround yourself with appealing aesthetics and visual pleasure regularly. During this time, the best thing you can do for yourself is activities that enriches you culturally. So, this would include visiting galleries, theaters, concerts, and completing courses both online and offline. You need a break from routine and the everyday tasks that make you feel exhausted. Maybe spend your weekend traveling or meet and spend time with different people in beautiful places. It is an amazing time to meet new people and learn something new. If you cannot go out, use the internet. Watch new releases on Netflix, finish a course you have postponed. Do something specifically for you and no one else: self-care, beauty, a massage or draw yourself a bath while listening to your favorite music. Use this time to enjoy things and develop yourself culturally. Spending time with people from the past who are a good influence on your life might also be a good idea.

Be aware of possible egotism, excessive communication, extravagance and the critical attitude that can come your way.

Colors to wear: amber, the colors of red wine and green leaves, and pink.

10/30/2023 (4).

The time has come when everything needs your attention. You are in control. It is important to have a step-by-step approach in order to avoid being overwhelmed or failing. Such a period is often described as unsettled, when you have too much going on and self-discipline is crucial. However, when you feel that your inner resources have run low, you need to take care of yourself and take a day off because your inner harmony should always be a priority. The outer world is a direct reflection of the way you feel inside. Hold on to the things and people that keep you inspired, motivated, and yet disciplined. It is important to stick to your schedule and become more organized.

During this period, you might encounter the following challenges: more limitations, less focus on important things, frequent irritation, and moodiness.

Colors to wear: green, blue, gray, turquoise or light brown.

10/31/2023 (5).

This time is filled with exciting events. You should try to plan all the things effectively in order to extract the full potential from this period. Feel free to seek help from other sources like apps, gadgets, and software to assist you with task-tracking and planning. It is all about work-life balance. If you manage to tackle all the arrangements at work, you will enjoy amazing free time filled with interesting events, long and meaningful conversations, delicious food, and exciting emotions. Also, you need to remember the physical side of your life: proper diet, health, sport, and outlook. This is a fruitful period, and it is in your best interest to organize your time effectively.

Your possible challenges might be hastiness, vulnerability, and the inability to pull yourself together.

Colors to wear: red, turquoise, pink, black or blue.

Transits for age 42

Transit cycle helps to get all the information regarding the year or period you are interested in. In each period of our life, we are exposed to different impacts. Transits can reveal this impact and year when it is active. It lets people plan their life according to the numerological impact and the knowledge they have.

Transits are active in 3 spheres of a person's life: physical, mental, and spiritual. The physical transit is derived from the letters of your first name, mental from your middle name (note: if you don't have one, check for the mental sphere through your last name), spiritual from your last name.

Physical N Transit

Your hard work and patience will be rewarded. It is a time of expanding and movements. Get ready for shifts in your life that will turn it upside down. Stay liberal, objective, and optimistic about your life, and you won't regret it.

Mental E Transit

It is better for you to be dynamic during this time. The surrounding world changes rapidly, and for you, it is important to keep in touch. It means you will have to improve yourself to correspond to modern standards. But don't forget to have fun on your way.

Spiritual E Transit

It is better for you to be dynamic during this time. The surrounding world changes rapidly, and for you, it is important to keep in touch. It means you will have to improve yourself to correspond to modern standards. But don't forget to have fun on your way.

Essence for age 42: 6/15

Essence cycles show us what we should wait for during a particular year of our life. It reveals the events, challenges, and atmosphere of the year. Essence number shows how to act and what to avoid, which characteristics and personal traits we need to develop to go through this year successfully.

It is derived from the number attached to every letter (transit), which influences you this year.

This is a year not so saturated in events; however, it is very important for your self-worth and your inner world. You know what it means to be hurt, and you know the taste of happiness.

During this year, to find a new hobby and give more meaning to your life, you may look around and see how many people you can help. Also, it is a time of maintaining balance. Listen to what your heart tells you; your feelings rarely mislead you. You can help others, but let them understand the line between getting help and taking advantage of you. Value your time and resources. Everything you do should be planned and oriented on a goal. It is better to set this goal in the very beginning of the year and move towards it step by step. Your romantic life will experience significant uplift.

Character (1) - 7

In the psycho-matrix, number "1" stands for a person's determination. If you have this number, you are always determined and always striving to persuade others that you are right anyway.

A person with an "111111" characteristic or greater includes several instances of addiction or having a short temper. However, a person like this will usually hide what he wants to do because he realizes that he is unable to do it. A person with an "111111" personality has large dreams of having power over more than what he would typically be able to attain, such as being a president. T his person is simply not satisfied with a minimal leadership role; he wants to make it big in the world. Being left alone to think about how much power he wants could cause this person to get into some trouble later on in life. That's why a person with this type of character will often refuse typical jobs that require minimal leadership, because it is not good enough for him. However, during times when a person feels relaxed, such as when he has an alcoholic beverage, he might mention his plans out in the open. Surprisingly, in the most cases a person who is "111111" behaves patiently and tolerates a lot, but keep in mind that over time this person can have an outburst of anger if so many offenses towards him build up. It is common for a person with a type "111111" personality to explode when others would least expect it. People around should be aware of such explosions. If you know someone with a type "111111" personality, it might best for you to encourage him in a positive manner to keep him away from focusing on the negative thoughts.

When it comes to the type of job that a person with a type "111111" personality has, decisions should be based on what his strengths are. Such people do not like to be told what to do, but would rather be a boss themselves; this usually does not work for their personality. In this case, this person will often have a low self-esteem.

ADVICE FOR PEOPLE OF TYPE "111111" AND MORE

Handling someone with a type "111111" personality isn't something that has been easy to do. Fortunately, there are some things that people can do to handle someone with this sort of personality better. One of the main actions that you can have towards such a person is being patient with him. Be reasonable when you're dealing with such a person. A person with this type of personality often reflects off of his value and his current career status, but he should realize that money and popularity aren't everything.

If you feel the need to help someone who has the personality of being "111111", then you should try to convince him about the above mentioned examples, and how they don't have to be someone "big" in order to be successful in the world. That person might not want to listen to what you have to say at first, but in the long run they might end up thinking more logically. Be patient with someone who has a type "111111" personality, but always consider encouraging him every once in a while. Try to help him to focus on their talents that are a bit more realistic and more achievable. If you are close to this person, keep a good watch on those with whom they associate or are friends with; make sure these people aren't bringing him down. Be friendly, caring, and not too pushy.

Energy (2) - 1

Dating all the way back to the ancient days, the number 2 has always been seen as a digit which represents core energy. The number 2 often stands for human energy.

Numerology 2 is the energy that is used when family interacts with one another. The number 2 is used for social purposes.

What can be used when describing a person who is energetic? This is not a concept that is very easy to explain. A human full of energy is capable of doing what is necessary regardless of his or her feelings about those actions. The action that needs to be done may be accompanied with a number of barriers and difficulties, yet the energetic person always has enough energy to overcome those and eventually succeed. Energy of such a person is usually directed into:

1. Setting goals for oneself
2. Getting through the strategies and plans for that goal
3. Achieving one's goals by following the plans that one has in his head

Before we proceed, we need to talk about another important concept that relates to the number 2. The energy that a person has will determine how they communicate with a different person of another energy type. The number 2 will determine what capabilities a person has to be able to communicate with someone else. The number 4 is a genetic number that can be compared to the number 2. The number 2 paired with the number 4 shows how society can be attracted to a person that is physically beautiful. The number 2 balances number 4 when it comes to looking at a person's mental state of mind instead of just his outer beauty. Beautiful individuals generally use their looks and their calm nature to get others to notice them; this is why they are so attractive to people.

During conversations, one person is typically the one who does all of the talking while the other basically listens to the conversation. This is something that is important to remember and understand. How do we see which person is the one who is taking over the conversation? This isn't something that would be difficult to dig it out. The person who starts to talk about the other person to hold their interest is the one who is in control of the conversation. The person who only talks about himself is the one who is feeding off of the other person for attention. Generally, this is the way that a conversation will go between two people with this type of personality.

Being intimate, drinking water, eating food, and having sex are obvious ways that a person can receive energy and certain types of energy at that! There are those who also turn to narcotics and drinking alcohol to get the energy that they want or need; but any return they get out of it they can damage nerves and the health of their bodies by doing this.

Now let's take into consideration what can happen with a person who has a number 1 in his psycho-matrix.

In case single "2" is present in psycho-matrix, the features of character are similar to those of people without energy of "2": laziness, excessive mobility, fussiness. Basically, only one "2" is not sufficient to cover deficit of energy. Presence of a few digits "4" can slightly improve the situation, but an external source of energy is still needed. The only difference from those having no "2" in psycho-matrix is that the described features are revealed on a more or less periodic basis rather than constantly. Such a person who used to be calm may occasionally become anxious; laziness is shown temporarily - as if he or she selects the "lazy times" during which an individual is taking a rest and relaxing. This character is also avoiding confrontations, as those are wasting already low energy reserves.

People with a single "2" are greedy of compliments and words of support. That's why they usually make a lot of good for people around in order to receive the consumed energy back with some surplus. They also have weakness for alcohol and narcotics. These people do not really like manual labor for the obvious reason of running low on energy. While taking part in conversation they prefer talking about themselves or their own interests, trying to avoid discussing topics that are not concerned with them.

PERFECT MATCH FOR ENERGY 2

When it comes to choosing a spouse, be guided by the same principles as stated above for characters with no "2" at all. Spouses having "22", "2222" and more in their psycho-matrix will be a good match. You can probably marry a person having single "2" like you, but only if he or she has a few additional "4" (the more, the better). Obviously, a person having weak energy (like "no-2" or "222") won't make a good match. In any case, both spouses should work into ways of cultivating the energy of one another.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR PEOPLE OF TYPE "2"

What can be recommended for a person with only one "2" in psycho-matrix? All recommendations for a character without energy of "2" also belong here. To be brief: transitions of 4 to 22, 11 to 8 and 6 to 7, compliments, getting nourishing meals, deep breathing, exercises of Qigong, Yoga and Wushu. Before you start cultivating your energy, consider learning how to preserve it and avoid wasting it for no purpose. Remember that great amounts of energy are consumed at times we're falling into a conflict, trying to suppress another person, or doing an uninteresting job. Chinese medicine introduces a good rule: "There's nothing bad in being tired, but don't you ever overcome and surmount yourself". If you feel exhausted, go and have a rest. If you're feeling uncomfortable while having a conversation with another person, put an end to that conversation and leave that person alone. Besides, getting you a dog is always an efficient measure of increasing the overall family energy. The more deficit of energy is observed, the larger the dog is required.

Do not consider starting with a cat as it often acts as a "vampire" and hence may aggravate the situation even more.

Interest (3) - 1

If you meet a person highly interested in science and technology, it is undoubtedly that he has a "3" in his psycho-matrix. The thing is that not all people have the potential of revealing their talents in science. If we take mathematics or physics (i.e. exact sciences), then the required number set is one of the following: 22, 55, 9 (or more), 33 (or more). Interest for liberal arts doesn't require "3" to be in the psycho-matrix, though.

Basically, "3" is responsible for any kind of interest, not only the scientific one. When analyzing the influence of this figure, we should not forget that it can belong to one of several lines, namely the first column (1, 2, 3), ascending diagonal (3, 5, 7) and the third row (3, 6, 9). If one's psycho-matrix doesn't include a few figures of "5" or "9", the person may be not interested in science at all. The reasonable conclusion is that if the science isn't the matter of interest of a "3" person, then something else is. In order to get an idea on what that interest can be, we need to define which line the individual "3" exactly belongs to.

The first column (1, 2, 3) is responsible for the person's self-appraisal. If "3" belongs to this line, it can be stated that the person cares too much about his self-esteem, which, as a rule, leads to overestimation of oneself. In its turn, this leads to the underestimating of others ("Many people are not as clever as I am"). Such a feature is usually recognized by the person's greed for giving advice, although such people usually have neither the knowledge nor the experience on the matter of advice given. Along with "3", the psycho-matrix of such people usually includes one of the following set: "no-2", "2" or "222", "no-5", "9".

The ascending diagonal (3, 5, 7) concerns sexual, flesh-originated, material interests. In other words, if the person's "3" belongs to this line, his interests are limited to sexual adventures and money (note that money often is not a prerogative as it is much harder to earn it than have sex). Promiscuity in sexual relationships is the most certain sign of "3" belonging to ascending diagonal.

The third row (3, 6, 9) is all about the person's stability. If "3" is found in this line, the owner of such psycho-matrix is "drowning" in his own habits (lots of them). They put a great amount of sense and importance into habits and self-made rituals. What's worse, such a person will usually try hard to convince others to copy his habits. As a rule, the ones who suffer this kind of obsession are people granted with power. Making their appearance in a new place, the first thing they do is to involve people around them into their own habits and rituals. Obviously, this behavior suppresses surrounding people, which means that a person having "3" belonging to the third row should never be appointed as an executive or head manager. The lack of business and creativity skills in such people's character should never be ignored while recruiting them for a particular job.

A single "3" in your psycho-matrix is an extremely versatile interest-generator. If you're a "3" person, you're not too far from the liberal arts, at the same time you're not close enough to the exact sciences. A good idea is to find the golden middle and go for studies like biology, economy or law. However, this versatility, which is said to be the main advantage of "3", is also its main disadvantage. This is for the reason that "3" doesn't concentrate the interest on certain branch but spreads it over. That's why it is very important for you to choose the direction in order not to harm yourself by being interested in everything yet nothing for real. Even those, who are keen on science, quit doing their studies because they do not clarify their direction or branch and so their knowledge may be referred as "scattered pieces of information". If you can't make your choice, you probably aren't interested in any branch, especially if "3" is combined with weak energy of "no-2", "2", and "222".

You may be curious about why "Interests of a "no-3" person" section doesn't include a recommendation concerning marriage and handling the character itself. The thing is that the figure 3 has no significant influence on marriage (omitting the influence of lines it may belong to). Now concerning handling the "no-3 and "3" character. There can't be any advice for the reason that "3" doesn't denote a feature of character. It just defines the branch of interests of a person. Nothing can be done about the innate set of interests predefined by the line to which "3" belongs. The other figures of psycho-matrix also make their effect; refer to corresponding sections for recommendation regarding those figures. Can a person strengthen his interest in a certain branch? Well, if he is hardly studying one of exact sciences or techniques, his "3" becomes more intensified. But the caveat is that it deliberately falls out of lines and the person loses the features provided by those lines: stability, sexual interests, and self-appraisal.

Don't kid yourself by making up your nonexistent abilities and trying to be involved in the branch you're not interested in. It's better to apply your talent to the branches you're good at. Don't try to convince yourself that you've done enough already on one or another study. You are unaware of what you are capable of doing, having all your natural skills revealed.

The main reason of why children with "3" in psycho-matrix grow up unaware of their real personality is that parents don't know how to detect the interests of their kids properly. So parents are strongly advised to avoid suppressing their child's natural development, otherwise it leads to fading out of innate talents. Just because you think your child's talent is not useful, that doesn't mean it is really so. Instead, find the club or school where he will be able to find his own talent and develop it.

Health (4) - 0

Do you think it is possible to depict the information on a person's health during their life just using the data of psycho-matrix (the date of birth etc.)? Of course, it's not a matter of defining it as "weak", "normal" or "strong" health - can we define more than that? Well, the answer is yes. And the number "4" is exactly the one responsible for a person's health. As a rule, people are careless enough in health-related questions until the river past and God forgotten - they become sick, or suffer from a periodic disease. And then it's the time to refer to effects and consequences of "4".

Before we pass to discussing features of "4", let's see where the roots of health prediction originate from. There was a specialized numerological system in Ancient China. That system was combined with a scheme of organs' interaction according to Wu-Sin (five principal elements). Later we will analyze this scheme in detail. The original Chinese numerological scheme depicted correlation between organs included in Tjan (5 organs) and numbers between 5 and 9. Nowadays, the modern interaction scheme is extended to depict the correlation of 10 organs. Only by means of analyzing the "Scheme of health" we may get an idea on possible diseases that a person can have over time, estimate the strength of particular organs and the organism as a whole.

As for number "4", it is not capable of defining local weaknesses; neither can it highlight illnesses which a person is vulnerable to, due to his energetic peculiarities. Basically, "4" is responsible for a person's body. Surprisingly, presence (or absence) of "4" in one's psycho-matrix gives enough information to assume what a person may look like, how attractive and physically strong they are; even without seeing or knowing anything else about this person. This fact makes "4" even more interesting than the detailed "Scheme of health".

"4" belongs to following numerological lines:

- a) The first row (1, 4, 7) - purposefulness of a person;
- b) The second column (4, 5, 6) - financial support of a family.

Therefore, not only number "4" can define overall body health; it can also answer the questions about the person's ability to set and achieve goals and his potential of making his own family wealthy.

When it comes to estimating a person's health according to the amount of digits "4" in his psycho-matrix, this should never be compared to the real health state of that person. If the subject is an extremely sick and suffering person, who is unable to carry himself out of a problem, it's very probable that the problem is not solely medical and he should find out what the energetic cause of the disease is. Now let's discuss what "energetic cause" stands for and what ways of its detection exist. You see, there are diseases that start for no apparent reason. In such cases, it's time to talk about not the disease itself, but more complicated events that preceded and eventually caused it. Such diseases cannot be cured with medicines or general practice. Following are the possible reasons of this:

1. Illness as a means of testing the person's strong features - kindness, tolerance, thoughtfulness (many digits of "7" and "8" are present).
2. Disease is given as a punishment for offences made to parents, a widow, an orphan or a certain individual.
3. Loss of digits "8" and "7" during transitions: 8 transits to 11 losing 4; 7 transits to 6 losing 4
4. (or 22 instead of 4).
5. Illness caused by someone else's evil force or evil eye.
6. Illness given as a contradiction (a person insisted and told everyone that he or she will not ever get this certain disease).
7. Disease acquired by a donor or extrasensory person, as a deal (explicit or concealed) with another person.

So, your psycho-matrix lacks number "4". Does it mean that you're susceptible to virtually any disease? Definitely not. It just states that your innate health level is not high enough, and that you need special care in terms of health. For you, maintaining a healthy body will be a demanding task which will drain your energy. It's not recommended to go for professional sports (especially those requiring power and endurance), since a person without "4" will soon wear out his health reserve during hard workouts, which will result in increased risk of getting ill. Such people are not looking forward to physical labor for the sake of preserving energy and health instinctively. If a "no-4" person is forced to be involved in physical labor, he will search for sources of replenishing their energy: alcohol, drugs, and energetic "vampirism".

Such a person can be given the following advice: he should focus on strengthening his health. The better way of doing this is exercising in Wushu, Qigong, Yoga and other health-improving systems. By making himself healthier he can set more demanding goals to achieve.

Respectively, he will become better at earning money for his family as he will get energy for hard work.

In Numerological terms, health can be strengthened through transitions of the following digits: 11 transits to 8 with additional 4; or 6 transits to 7 with additional 4. In order to make such transitions possible, you should learn how to better control yourself in order to be tolerant, or go for the arts. Regarding the arts, it's not the matter of paying for art courses and putting expectations on it; the arts serve the needed purpose only if a person is interested and passionate.

Intuition (5) - 0

In psycho-matrix, number "5" is responsible for a person's logical skills and intuition, which determines his or her abilities to make plans and analyze situations; it also signifies keenness in precise disciplines and techniques. The number "5" occupies the central position in psycho-matrix, which means that along with its primary characteristics, it also has auxiliary influence. That is due to the fact that "5" belongs to four lines which may interfere with it:

1. the second column (4, 5, 6) - prosperity of the family;
2. the second row (2, 5, 8) - "family" features;
3. flesh-related diagonal (3, 5, 7) - flesh-originated interests, intimate life;
4. spiritual diagonal (1, 5, 9) - spiritual (religious) life.

The strong logical skills of a person are hardly ever expressed directly, because most of the time "5" is captured by one of the first three lines listed; however it rarely becomes captured by the spiritual diagonal (in such a case a person can become a religious fanatic).

Virtually nothing can be done to improve your intuition (the ability to make decisions with awareness of the consequences beforehand) since it's typically innate. Sometimes a person doesn't know how to use this ability, though. As for logical skill, it can be explained as an ability to make consistent and reasonable conclusions which guide the person towards right decisions. By the way, it often happens that we assume people without "5" in their psycho-matrix to be logically skilled. This mistake is caused by the fact that such people surely have many digits of "9" - thus they can use their excellent memory to recall similar situations they have encountered, and make the right decisions based solely on experience. It can be said that the presence of two digits of "9" can make the same effect as one "5".

As for number "5", the strong logical skill provided by it helps the person to recollect the information split into many pieces by uniting those. That greatly improves the person's memory, so we may say that the presence of two digits of "5" in the psycho-matrix has the same effect as an additional "9". That's exactly the way a digit transition occurs - "55" transits to "9", and "99" transits to "5".

People whose psycho-matrix includes two or more digits of "5" become a little dull, since they separate all their thoughts and conclusions to numerous steps which are often preceded by a long introduction, which is disliked by people around them, especially those lacking "5".

Looking for a partner, for a relationship or marriage, it's important to testify that difference in the amount of digits "5" doesn't exceed 1, and it would be better if the husband had the greater amount. It's crucial to understand that lines can empower the digit "5". As we already discussed, "5" may belong to four different lines which may empower it in the way the person wants it to.

A person does not have logical skill and is more like a dreamer if the digit "5" is absent in his or her psycho-matrix. Such a person avoids planning in any form. He or she just depicts his own dreams in a certain sequence and assumes this desire is real. That's why it's never a good idea to rely on such a person in your long-term plans. "No-5" people used to their build castles in the air and live there without any concerns about how real those are. Leave this dreamer alone with his or her dreams; there's no point in trying to convince him or her to refuse the dream. Sooner or later the dreamer finds out that his or her creation is unreal, and then creates a new "castle" from scratch. It's interesting that such a person never seems to care about the previous dream that faded out. However, if it is you who made the dreamer's "sand castle" fall down, he or she will believe you are responsible for their loss, and as a result they won't trust you anymore.

It's not worth going into deep detail when explaining something to a "no-5" person. He or she never pays much attention to detail. Just describe the essence of what you want to say, and such person will be glad, as he or she personally dislikes explaining the detail. What's more important to a "no-5" person is the emotional side of the subject rather than a logical explanation.

Under the condition that "5" is absent in your psycho-matrix, you shouldn't go for studies of techniques and precise disciplines. It can be advised that you select arts or humanitarian branches. People around "no-5" persons should know that the dreamers are moving our civilization forward. No matter how unrealistic their dreams are, the result is always achieved. Sometimes the result is unwanted or negative, but it is a result nonetheless.

Thinking about the prosperity of their family, "no-5" people rely on a regular salary. When working, they believe that their hard work will accordingly deserve a greater salary than that of people not working as hard as they. Do not argue with such a person - you won't convince them, you'll only offend them. People lacking "5" in their psycho-matrix are worried about financially supporting their family; however, they are extremely sensitive regarding their own problems. It would be better not to demand such a person to earn money for their family; however, this advice is appropriate only for women.

Is there anything that can be done to develop their logical skill? Yes; by storing a large digit of failed and illogical decisions in memory, a person appeals to his or her own practicality. There is hope that a person won't ever repeat his or her mistakes, yet their dreaming is unstoppable since they continue to believe in their "structures" or "buildings". Don't spoil their dreams with boredom by being solely dull and pragmatic.

Labour (6) - 0

Number "6" is one of the most controversial and complicated numbers within the Numerological system. Right before we move on to describing its characteristics, it's worth mentioning a well-known commentary regarding this number. Do you remember the passages in the Bible under Johan the Apostle's Revelation? An exact numeral, namely 666, is stated there as "the number of beast" and "hominid number." So, nowadays "666" is known as a beast's or Satan's number. Do you feel like we're entering the world of legends and tales? Let's find out how close it is to common sense.

For every aspect of this world, there is always the corresponding opposite, and they both are set against each other. Examples are: truth-lie, small-big, right-wrong, soft-hard, water and flame, Good and Evil, God and Satan. Opposite concepts supplement each other as two sides of the truth. That's all there is to it: if there is God, in the same way there is Satan. But what about that part of Johan the Apostle's Revelation that states 666 to be a "hominid number?" Consider this simple idea: if God and Satan are equal in power, then why would God create the world, but Satan (as a representative of destructive force) cannot destroy it? I think we can treat those words literally: Satan (number "666") is an image or sign that belongs to people. Knowing that, we may find a way to secure ourselves and our nearest ones from the effects of this sign if it appears in the psycho-matrix. The methods of securing it will be discussed later.

If you look closely at all numbers together, you will easily notice that numbers "6" and "9" are similar in their notation and this is for a reason. Number "9" is responsible for one's memory and mind, which are always devoted to accumulation of knowledge directed towards experience and wisdom. As for number "6", it copies basic features of "9" (mind, knowledge), but "transverses" the goals: a person becomes a forgetful relative to his or her nearest ones; a person's mind works towards power by means of suppression, humiliation and eventual extinction of another personality (not to be confused with murder, a person stays alive, yet his or her personality is completely destroyed). The knowledge concerning means of affecting personality, psychics, breaking one's health and vitality (including murder) has been accumulated for ages. Such knowledge acquired a status of "dark" and the people familiar with that knowledge are called "warlocks".

Now let's examine the minor meaning of number "6" - interest for physical labor. There is a very simple explanation of this aspect: in the early ages, there collaboration of a man and a horse was a common thing in the work in the field. Now what is the total count of legs within that partnership? Amazing yet simple, isn't it?

But why is the interest for physical labor just a minor meaning of "6?" The reason is that it often loses to the interest for power and "dark knowledge". In other words, personality is grounded and suspended by power.

One doesn't have interest for physical labor if he or she lacks number "6" in the psycho-matrix. Such a person is a reluctant worker, who does physical labor only under force or by necessity. In rare cases, a "no-6" person can make it as a favor or tribute to another person. Such people are closer to the arts and sciences. It's pointless to suggest they go for physical labor as they won't ever become good workers. They primarily imagine any given task as it is already completed, seeing an excellent result. For this reason, they work accurately, in a slow pace, overly drowning in detail. But it shouldn't be confused with love of labor; as such people are not time-efficient and are only interested in getting the result which satisfies them personally. They are most interested in the arts and sciences, the specific branch can be highlighted with other digits present in the psycho-matrix. If, along with absence of "6" the person has "no-2", "4" or more, "9", "no-5" - the winning option is dancing (doing ballet), since such person is agile and has a strong body. The occupation of an actor is recommended if we slightly change the above set: "no-6", "no-2", "4" or more, "99". Provided with strong energy, one can succeed in music: "22", "2222" or more. Painting requires purposefulness together with energy, therefore the optimal set is: "22" or more, "111" or more.

"No-6" persons also tend towards scientific studies, but not related to techniques. Depending on other digits in psycho-matrix, it can be advised to stick to humanitarian disciplines ("no-6", "no-5" and "9"), or to precise ones ("no-6", "55" or more, "9").

Suppose your child (primarily concerning girls) is having an interest to handicraft: sewing, making clothes; carpentry (for boys). Is there anything to be done about that interest? Well, you need to develop the child's will to become a master of his occupation so the level of his or her handicraft is art rather than merely being a hobby. Remember hand-made carpets: an extremely difficult and precise work which makes every carpet a masterpiece that is comparable to, say, a museum-grade picture or sculpture. Carpentry may also become an art if we think about carved furniture, mosaics etc.

Never strive to suppress your children's interests. The main concept is to help a child to be revealed as a master who creates masterpieces. There's no point in avoiding such occupations as dancing, acting, singing, or playing music. Think of Al Pacino - can you imagine the cinema world without this great actor?

Now what if your kid takes an interest in sports? First, you need to estimate the strength of his digits of "4" (health) in order to find out how serious this interest is. Professional sports are not advised unless your child has "44" or more.

Luck (7) - 0

Historically, this number has been associated with good luck and often meant the sign of an angel. Number 7 is a sign of luck, which can be granted only by supernatural forces and not earned by your actions or skills. And people did not treat only the number itself as a 'special one,' the same was with the 7th day of the week - Sunday. In many religious cultures, there people prayed on Sundays and asked for solutions to problems or asked for luck in important events.

But let us go back to our topic. Yes, number 7 is related to success, but did you not ever wonder how it works? The old explanation of the number was based on the following: amount of '7s,' which were present in the matrix of a person, and signified the number of guardian angels this person had. This is not the best explanation and the picture itself is not a clear one to imagine, but we had to mention this explanation in order to compare it to the actual meaning.

Human nature is very complex and often it is just impossible to explain why a person behaves the exact way he does, or why there are no two identical people with similar characteristics. The world is too large and diverse; it is impossible to explain every aspect of our life and behavior. Each one of us has his own mind, differing world views and talents given at birth.

When we were creating schools for children to develop their abilities and interests, we could not determine for a long time what the cause to make a child learn was. It is extremely hard to make a child sit calmly for about 40 minutes and teach him something. If you want to do that you better have a strong reason, which you will need to tell the child as a justification.

And this justification has to be understandable for a child - do not use such rationales as 'your parents will be pleased,' 'it will have a great influence on your future' or 'you just need to do it.' The answer is hidden in something more global.

A good example of differing world views may be presented by a famous parable telling about three old blind men who were presented an elephant and had to describe what it looks like. None of them had ever seen an elephant in his life, but each was claiming to be the wisest. They all were taken to the animal and given only one part to be examined: one of the old men was given the elephant's trunk, another examined its tail, and the third one put his arms around the huge legs of the animal. After this the old men were asked 'What is an elephant?'

The first old man told that the elephant was like a big strong snake, the second one tried to prove that it was like a rope - long, strong, and shaggy, and the third old blind man thought the elephant was a big and tall column.

Can these wise men be called fools? Surely no! The reason was - they studied only part of an object and did not see the picture as a whole. This is very similar to how all people study the surrounding world and what tools they use. Many things and events in life cannot be fully examined and understood by a pair of eyes and a pair of arms. Everything is more complex. Mother Nature did a great amount of work and put a piece of knowledge about itself in each of us. Each of these pieces is unique and grants every owner special talents and abilities.

The task of every person is to understand and develop those talents and abilities. Nobody else but you is responsible for discovering and developing your inner strengths.

Sometimes one life is just not enough for a person to discover himself, but in the second or third life he will surely release his life's potential. It takes about 100 years to discover and develop what nature has put into one person. After the death of one person this knowledge is transferred to another person, who has been just born? That is the proof that every one of us is undoubtedly special!

Surely you must have felt that you are special and somehow different from other people. It is just the right feeling, and what you have to do now is to analyze whether you have released your true potential and knowledge. Besides basic needs for food, clothing, shelter, and reproduction, Nature has given you inner wisdom and a unique mind so that you can live better and develop your abilities and strengths. When you are a grown-up and there came a time to give the younger generation advice about life, teach how to solve problems or become better - think first: have you first released your potential? Because your advice may not be the right one otherwise ? All knowledge we get at schools, colleges or universities are important tools to understand the surrounding world and, what is more important, ourselves. Gathered knowledge is the 'passkey' needed to open the 'door' to all treasures and wonders hidden in our mind.

Unfortunately, nowadays most teachers and tutors use old-fashioned education methods, which are not helpful for self-discovery. Ideally, teaching methods and programs should be changed in a way to help us determine what is more interesting to us. It is not fair if a person has a strong interest in science, but is taught arts at school or college. He will not succeed in this sphere, because it is not corresponding to his talents and abilities, inherent in his nature. Sometimes it is enough just to believe in a child and help him learn the way he wants to.

Inner feelings and intuition will guide the way.

There was an interesting fact, even mentioned in the Bible. Humans may have lived far longer than we do now - the first man Adam is said to have lived for 930 years, and Noah lived even longer - 950 years. There were many scientific studies which proved that human organs have enough energy to serve for about 900 years. And why did people start to grow older? It is because they started to plan their lives and observed the nature: how animals became older, died, and new ones were born. The secret of long life is easier than you think

- do not make plans, just live for today. Tomorrow everything will be fine. Introduction of such terms as 'birth date' and 'being x years old' led human beings to grow old.

Historically, our whole life was divided into several distinctive stages with clear tasks. In childhood, we play games and learn basic skills; youth is always associated with education and first application of acquired skills. Puberty is the time when young families are created, middle-age is for giving birth and raising children, maturity is the time to strengthen the family and creation of material wealth, old age is related to raising grandchildren, and elder age is the time when acquired property is transferred to children and grandchildren, and preparation for upcoming death. There is only one way to extend life - you should take care of every stage, take the maximum out of it and make it longer. The most important stage is childhood, because during it a person acquires most knowledge and makes important discoveries. Education and preparation to release inner potential fully depends upon our mind, how we use, treat, and develop it. If the childhood stage could be extended, a person would have more time to gain knowledge (which is so crucial for self-discovery). Famous scientist, Albert Einstein, told that he had discovered the Theory of Relativity only because he always stayed a child deep inside.

Long life is given to a person for self-revelation and development. As soon as he finds out the right sphere the development starts. But if a person sets boundaries of knowledge he will get, the process of growing older begins. Nature thinks that the person has fulfilled his role and does not need to develop anymore. Unfortunately, very often we judge our worthiness by what others think about us, forgetting about tasks and responsibilities given at birth.

Learning is the key to development and well being. Also you will not grow old so fast, because as far as you think and reflect the events of the outer world.

Modern scientific and technological discoveries are regulated by a group of people who think they are so important and can control all the discoveries in various areas. This is totally unacceptable; true knowledge is not developed in a vacuum. Most important discoveries belong to geniuses who did not care about public opinion.

Finally, we are up to the point to discuss the meaning of number 7, so important and influential for everyone's life task. More and more frequently we face the situations when Nature has actually corrected the birth dates of people, allowing predetermined digits in psycho-matrix. Therefore, a person is born with specific talents and areas of interest. That is why psycho-matrix is the most important determinant of a person's destiny - it has to be carefully examined and used for unleashing the inner potential.

People who have number 7 in their psycho-matrix occupy a special position in this list. The Nature itself was interested in discovering and exploring such people.

Let us look at an example. Suppose that famous scientist I. Newton was born 200 or 300 years earlier or later, and then his discovery would've changed the technology progress and our history, because all mechanics, physics, and other technical disciplines are based on his discoveries. He was meant to make the discovery when it was necessary most of all. In some people's minds there is important knowledge, which will eventually lead to great discoveries. Special people have their own communication channel with Nature: they use numbers 0 and 7 for those purposes. Zero is a sign of a person, who is meant to make a discovery in predetermined area. As for number 7, it means that person has important data in his mind, which will be very useful during his life and vital for some discoveries. The Nature itself protects such a person; that is where all good luck comes from. The more 7s a person has in his matrix - the more important role he has.

What are the peculiarities of the person who has "7" in his matrix? All the forces of the World have no power above such kind of person. If you have digit "7" in your matrix, you are not protected from failures and accidents. There exists the opinion that these people are unlucky fellows. They are used to overcoming many difficulties.

A person with "7" does not have a definite goal which is important for the world development at the moment. This man feels free and, thanks to that, he has many chances to find himself in the different spheres of human knowledge. In the light of it, many of his actions may be mistaken. It is a cause of troubles and chaos.

Despite all of these, it is not unlucky destiny. There are advantages for a person of such kind as well. Because of their feelings of freedom, they do all they want to do. Their thoughts are broad. These people are disposed to the arts and sciences. They have such positive features like good memory, logic and high intellect. Their fantasy can provoke awe in other people. These people are able to understand nature; that is, why they succeed in sciences about nature.

What about the choosing of a partner for marriage? For example, let's say, the wife has many digits "7" in matrix, but her husband is unlucky in everything. However, there is mutual supplement, which allows the wife to find her directions and answers faster and more reliably. The husband in such cases can give the energy to the wife.

But a way to exclude the failures exists. It is necessary to find one's own direction of truth for it. The person who has "sevens" favors it. If such a person is near you, the union of goals and tasks happens. That leads to increased chance of an unlucky person to open his talents and concealed abilities. It is his way out of failures.

Probably, the person without "sevens" in psycho-matrix can be the pointer for another one for his movement. But it is completely clear that all attention in such a couple should be given to the owner of digit "7".

It is very favorable to find the couple with many "sevens", but it is not so easy. It is necessary to develop yourself and try to find your truth to deserve the right to be in a couple with a person with "7s". Many hindrances may occur on this difficult journey. But, the more obstacles there are, the more definite the way to this goal is. The hindrances may be caused by people with "666 and more". These people do not allow the talents and internal abilities of a person to open.

Duty (8) - 1

Number "8" is responsible for kindness, tolerance and feeling of duty regarding parents and relatives. These are important things to which we have to pay more attention. We can call "8" one of the most important numbers. All the psycho-matrix depends on it. Many features of character depend on the presence of "8".

Composing the list of close relatives we see that there are eight: mother, father, brother or sister, wife, son, daughter, father-in law, mother-in-law. You have special relationships and feelings towards these people. That is why exactly "eight" is responsible for several of the most important features of a person. But parents are the focal point on this list. We do not choose them, but they give us life.

We are not always tolerant of our relatives; however, they are the closest people to us. We can be tolerant in society when we need to be. We can be tolerant with clients of the company we work in. We can be tolerant with our boss, the list of tolerance goes on. We often speak about this particular feature of our character. Different people understand it in different ways.

Somebody thinks that it means submission. Others think that it is silence and compliance. But tolerance means the ability to be tolerant of the person near you and to his or her habits, wishes and opinions. In writing examples of tolerant behavior, we did not say that tolerance is necessary in that situation. The same is with parents and relatives.

Try to understand that every person has his own weaknesses and imperfections. By the way, you are not perfect, either. The other people are forbearing with you. You have to be the same. Sometimes maybe you think something like: "Why do I have such parents? It would be better if they are?" But, if Nature gives you one thing, you can't have another: if Nature gives to the person great health and high intellect, it will not give a slim body or beauty. All is in balance in this world.

If your matrix has only one digit 8, this person is responsible from his childhood, but this sense is not in full action. Your parents usually remind you about them, and that you need to take care.

As digit 8 is the last digit in the line of numerology digits, its presence can influence a lot on the human's character. The character can change frequently, because digit 8 can be switched to 11, which can be very critical, or 11 can be switched to 8. For example, you have a character 111 and you do not have digit 8 in your psycho-matrix, so your mood can swing to 1 and 8 and further. But during an argument when you speak in support of your point of view, your character can immediately switch to 111, when your excitement is aroused and you have a wish to dispute, but this feeling doesn't last too long. Now let's look through the other situation, when a person has digit eight in his psycho-matrix and the character doesn't change. There is another way of switching. 111 and 8 switch to 1 and 88, when the person becomes patient and kind, but do not try to put pressure on this person, because he will get furious and the argument you started can become a fight and his mood can immediately switch to 11111. So you can see here how digit 8 in a matrix can frequently change a person's character and its bad influence during the argument or when he defends his opinion. People with these digits in a psycho-matrix are not allowed to be directors or similar positions where they will manage people, because this composition of digits 1 and 88 gives malignance and irritability. Another composition that can appear 111 and 8 show that person is compliant and weak-willed.

Sense of duty also depends on your upbringing and your parents. You will not have sense of duty if your parents didn't raise you with that and didn't give you much attention. A little child always needs a lot of care and affection; he sees how his parents treat him and he thinks that he has to treat his kids like that. So, if the parents didn't pay enough attention to their children, there appears a sense of offence, instead of a sense of duty. Then kids usually don't listen to their parents and become naughty and unruly. Sometimes it happens that children get beaten and abused by their parents, which can arouse not only offence but even a sense of hate towards mom and dad. We can advise you about being careful during raising your children, they will watch how you treat your parents, and they will do the same thing with you, and when you get older, they will copy you. I used to know one woman who was very happy when her parents died. She didn't even go to the funeral of her father. This woman has a little son, who watched all of this. I am sure that when he grows up, he will treat his mom poorly. There are lots of parents who abuse their children and you want to ask how they abide all of this. Lots of people vow and swear that they will never treat their children the same way they were treated by their parents. They say that they are better and kinder, but it always happens the other way. Usually it happens that you will beat and abuse your kids because you are continuing the pattern.

Memory (9) - 2

The presence of number "nine" shows your clairvoyance, memorizing and intellectual skills. Let me explain why out of all the numbers, this number indicates those qualities. Each number's characteristics are connected with the characteristics of the preceding number. The number that is before number "nine", is number "eight", and as we already know, number "eight" stands for the sense of duty to the relatives and especially parents. After our parents die we all suffer a lot and our suffering later transforms to remembrance. Since number "9" goes after "eight," after sense of duty, goes memory. If you speak about some person who is very clever, you say that he is open-minded. Or when we say that person is smart and knows a lot, we mean that he remembers and keeps a lot of information in his mind. Well, here is another trick. If a person is very smart and clever, he is not wise.

Let's speak about such a characteristic as clairvoyance. A person who is clairvoyant has a big storage of knowledge in his mind. He knows a lot and has seen a lot, has had great experiences. A person with such experience can make a prediction relying on facts and situations that he has already seen or remembers. For example, in some situations he can predict the result based on a similar situation that has already happened to him in his life.

It is necessary to keep in mind that number "nine" is present in three rows that stand for different characteristics and can influence on this number. For example, third row stands for stability, and if number "nine" happens to be in a third row, that can cause lack of intellect and memory. This person can remember lots of small things and habits that are not important and can just be garbage to his memory and mind. The third column stands for talent. A decreasing diagonal is a line of spirituality that stands for a person's spirituality. Of course, excessive spirituality usually can be a cause of religious interests or passionate fanaticism. A person who has a good memory can be hypnotized with a lot of information in some field that can get his common sense switched off. If there are digits 22 or more in your psycho-matrix, and digit nine is in decreasing diagonal, it is also advisable to have a good power of energy to get a possibility of you having clairvoyant skills.

Still, with digit nine in your psycho-matrix, you have to develop your memory from childhood.

Of course, a person who has two nines in his psycho-matrix is much better in memorizing than a person who has one "nine". Two nines double the amount of information that a person can keep in his memory. It is much easier for him to remember information. Such a good memory helps to choose a career or a profession in such sciences that are connected with reproduction of a big amount of information. These people usually become good literary men, statisticians and bank clerks, translators, language experts, stockmen, etc.

Let's compare two types of people: the ones who have one digit "nine" in his psycho-matrix and those who have two "nines". For example we take two sculptors. A sculptor with two nines in his psycho-matrix makes very good copies of sculpture. He remakes the sculpture of famous artists, making them the same as the original. He keeps in his mind all the details and shapes of a number and transfers it using clay or other material. A person like this can become a specialist, that makes statues or wax digits. If there is one "nine" in psycho-matrix, such sculptor doesn't make perfect copies. He usually tries to shape something in his own way. Even if he started to work in someone's style, he tries to change it to the way he sees it, including his own details. They are more like inventors of something new, information and details generally gets lost in their mind. The same can be said about painters, composers and writers.

A person can discover in himself clairvoyant skills that are based on digits combination, if there are other digits, like 55, 666 or 777 together with two "nines" in a psycho-matrix. These additional digits of two "nines" can signify a vision for some possible events or incidents. A person who has a great experience can reinforce his logic capabilities considering situations that have happened before in his life. Later, when a similar situation occurs, he compares and can say what the ending will be. But his perfect logic capability cannot give an intuitive vision of the situation. It means that he cannot give a new solution or a new idea, how to resolve a problem; he just improves what he already has.

Also the negative side of a good memory is that these people can remember each offence that was caused to him. If it is especially bad, if their parents or relatives have hurt him, they remember it for a long time. It can be a bright memory that will prevent other necessary information to be remembered. The only way how not to bear grudge against people who are close to you is to find out the reason why they offended you. May be it was just their bad mood or a critical situation.

Sometimes it can happen that a person with two "nines" has a very bad memory and cannot memorize any information you tell him. Of course the reasons of such a mismatch can be explained.

One of the widespread reasons of memory weakening is if these two "nines" are in one row, especially if they are in a third row that stands for stability. A person memorizes a lot of unnecessary information and unimportant situations and duties that he will not need in his everyday life, instead of developing his intellect and memorizing skills.

Purposeful (1-4-7) - 7

The numbers 1, 4, and 7 are numbers that all represent a person's ability to achieve his objectives or succeed in something he plans. They also represent how a person is able to explain his point of view. In general, these digits show just how self-motivated the person is. Now, let's see what you have in the first row.

When there are six or more digits in your first row, it means that sometimes you overestimate your abilities. You set up goals that are too hard to achieve or several goals at once, which can slowdown the way to them.

Family formation (2-5-8) - 2

The second row (2, 5, 8) shows the family attitude, desires on family formation, a feeling of being in a family. Let's analyze this character reference:

One or two digits - you have a goal to have a family, but not so fast. You don't bother on trying to make it. He often thinks that the time to have it will come soon and on its own, when someone will suggest him.

Stability (3-6-9) - 3

The third row (3, 6, 9) specifies the stability of the character, for example, what fears, affections or habits you have.

Three digits in the third row means that you are unpredictable in your habits. Once you are fond of one thing, on another day, you are ready to do exactly the opposite. It all happens unexpectedly.

Self appraisal (1-2-3) - 9

Although the first column in Numerology is commonly characterized in literature as the column of selfish qualities, my opinion is that it appeals to the strength of an individual's self-esteem. Digits 1, 2 and 3, which comprise the first column, are accountable for the aspiration to be a vivid personality, i.e. to be distinguished from one's peers. In fact, selfish qualities are represented by a variation of number 1, and not by the remaining column digits. As for the self-esteem, it's quite undoubtedly that any gifted and clever person needs to have relatively high self-esteem as a prerequisite for attaining fulfillment in his life. If someone still insists on using the term "selfish" for describing properly developed self-esteem, I suggest adding explanation that in this instance we're talking about "healthy selfishness". You may argue that the boundary between "healthy" and "unhealthy" selfishness is blurry, but regardless you should understand that self-esteem is connected to selfishness, so there can't be one without a portion of the other.

Six digits in a line or more: the first thing to warn such a person about is that his self-esteem is overloaded. He ignores his true abilities in preference of appearance and exterior. Such a person's priority is to demonstrate his look, and not his content.

Finance (4-5-6) - 0

Very sophisticated and active numbers: 4 - health, 5 - logic and intuition, 6 - a tendency to physical labor and skill - together make up the second column. All three numbers require a human will to put enormous efforts to reveal his complete potential. Think about it: can it be effortless to stick to a certain diet, to really care for health, or make long-term and realistic plan, perform physical labor? If the digits that make up this line require the participation of strong-willed people, the whole line cannot do without it either. Combining these three qualities is characteristic of the second column - the aspiration of man to financial independence, arrangement of his life, providing for the family financially.

People having only one digit or lacking it are reluctant to provide aid and support themselves, instead tending to be seated on the neck of parents or spouse. This line does not represent a special danger for a woman as providing families should rest on the shoulders of her husband.

Talent (7-8-9) - 3

Pythagoras Square's third column, namely numbers from 7 to 9 is responsible for human talent; the more digits, the more talent. This does not necessarily mean that if this line is very strong (4 or more digits included), then people will definitely be talented. Remember, the disclosure of talent is influenced by many numbers and line Pythagoras' Square: nature, self-esteem, commitment, energy, health, luck, and others. It is a combination of many characteristics and efforts of the person given the goal.

It is very important to identify the area of application of a person's forces. Do not seek to go with the flow of life. There is a list of "fashionable" professions: lawyers, bankers, company president, economist, etc. All of them have not been identified as talented people, but people who provide prosperity for themselves and their loved ones. Before you advise your child to choose the "money-giving" profession, think about their future. Refer to some historical information.

A person's value in the epoch they are living in is not determined by one's post, but by their talent. Develop your child's talent and he'll be thankful if you do not suggest to him the idea that having a talent is secondary, while the main thing is money and material sufficiency.

The world is populated with a lot of talented people who don't reach fulfillment. Actually, from 85 to 90% of the world's inhabitants of the planet are talented. Before you stop the development of your child's interests, look at your own numbers and ask yourself: Were you able to discover your capabilities and inclinations? If not, spare your child a chance, give him the opportunity to enter the Earth's history, and give yourself the opportunity to help him do it.

One fundamental principle lies in understanding that each person is unique and is responsible to Nature (I have already said repeatedly, and I want to keep this simple thought hard to forget). We are all responsible for ourselves and our children for future generations. Each undiscovered talent will pull a whole chain of "unrevealed" people - these people will return to barbarism, war, terror, hate each other, the desire to turn everything around. Learn how to be responsible for yourself!

Just think why we still choose a normal or a "better" school, kindergarten, doctor, teacher for our children... The fact is that more and more talented people go where they are paid and not where their talent is crucially needed. If any person could occupy the post they were born to, then we would have strong financiers, managers, state machinery, and many other places will take responsible people who know the technology and deeply understand the production process. Then there will be no problem about where best to go. Everyone will get an occupation that will be favorable for revealing their abilities.

As for family stability, this line makes no significant influence.

Spirituality (1-5-9) - 9

Considering Pythagoras' Square, you must evaluate and correlate the mutual influence of the two diagonals (carnal and spiritual). It is their relationship which will play a key role in the strength of each line. Assessing the effect of each line, we can say that the following is important for a human's family: their interest in the spiritual principles of the partner or the material side (flesh, including the sexual sphere).

Descending diagonal contains the numbers one, five, and nine. It is responsible for the spirituality of man, his aspiration to spiritual intimacy and the higher principle - God, supreme intelligence, etc. The growth of human spirituality increases with the amount of digits in that line. It can be stated that the spirituality of an individual increases gradually from the lack of spirituality in the absence of digits to a maximum at five digits.

If this line contains more than five digits (6 or more), then we'll talk about the overloading of the quality which most often leads to fanaticism and idolatry, when all human norms are beginning to be distorted beyond recognition, taking its total opposite of what looks more like a lack of spirituality than divine origin. Fanaticism in its higher stage is always spiritless, because it does not allow other viewpoints.

Sexual life (3-5-7) - 1

Ascending diagonal, namely numbers three, five, and seven, defines carnal human interests: the temperament of sexual life.

The intimate life of an individual, his temperament and the need for intimacy are all dependent on the ascending diagonal. This issue is the primary crucial in terms of a long-term successful and warm relationship. If a proper match-up is not observed among partners, it often leads to family breakdown due to incompatibility of temperament.

Although the next table is a joke, it reflects the difference in the strength of temperaments fairly well. So, provided that a person possesses in their carnal (ascending) diagonal:

No digits - a person believes it is not necessary to be distracted by this subject matter

1. digit - 1 time a year will do
2. digits - maybe 2 times a month will satisfy one's needs
3. digits - 3 times a week are hardly enough
4. digits - unsatisfied unless 4 times a day
5. digits - 5 times per hour (remember this is a joke!)
6. digits or more - well, it couldn't be any bigger, needs the partner of similar enormous temperament

Now let's discuss it in a more serious fashion.

No digits or 1 digit indicates emotionally cold humans. Very often this leads to unfaithfulness on their part because they do not care with whom or even how to be intimate, and the desire to prove their consistency in the vicinity of pushing them to search for the ideal partner - especially men who are looking for the same cold woman who will be fully satisfied with him.

Numerology is quite a multifaceted science that has a lot of different methods for determining personal compatibility. Two of those methods are most common: numerological compatibility by the date of birth (that is using the Pythagoras Square) and numerological compatibility based on the core numbers derived from the name and date of birth.

When calculating personal compatibility using psychomatrix characteristics, you are calculating the particular character of each partner as well as his/her level of energy and sexual potential. Indicators of commitment, family orientation, self-esteem, and living standards are also taken into account. In addition, this method determines the years of material and spiritual stability in your future.

Partnership of 3 with 6

You combine to make an active and productive duo.

6 has the essential competence to take from others humanity and allegiance, as well as long-term commitment.

Even more importantly, the dynamism 3 fetches is sometimes insufficient. 6 stays powerful when it comes to the substances of the soul, so this leads to harmony and functionality. 6, you have the inclination to develop things intricately through different individuals, even if they may at first seem restricted. You ensure that everybody gets what they need and have the power to change 3's mood if they are unhappy. 3 requests an outstanding amount of liberty and freedom and does not like to be directed by anyone else when it comes to making decisions.

Birthday Compatibility

You are more likely to be great friends than lovers. This closeness and interest in each other do not make a strong enough basis for marriage. If you are dead set on legalizing your relationship, know that full mutual understanding will be your greatest achievement as a couple. Strong emotions and sexual experiences will probably be gained from partners on the side because the primary relationship will not offer these rewards. Therefore, think hard about whether or not you want to live a double life forever.

In this alliance "One" has a leadership-oriented character and imposes his will on "Three". In exchange, "One" receives creativity and openness from "Three". This union will make an active, dynamic, enterprising couple however true love is a rarity in such a relationship.

Most families are built on either a material interest or a spiritual basis, which is when people live because of their interest in each other's personalities.

In a peak period of trouble there comes the collapse - a spiritual or material crisis in the family.

Character

Character Compatibility (1) - 7 / 3

Number "1" in psycho-matrix symbolizes resolution of the character. If the person with number "1" wants to achieve something in life, you will direct all the efforts and power of will on it. If you are sure about something you will prove wrong anyone who is not on your side.

"111+11111". The main goal for a person of "11111 and higher" characteristic is to find a perfect spouse that is type "111" so that they can easily influence or control them. In this case "111" will be amenable, but such relationships won't influence on their inner psychological state, as both partners are quite self-sufficient.

Energy

Energy Compatibility (2) - 1 / 5

"2+22222" - these types create an amount of excessive energy, which is a nice sign. The life together may be interesting and full of emotions, because the partners with type "22222" and higher have a cheerful disposition and are active in everyday life, which suits type "2".

Values (3-5-7) - 1 / 0

The rising diagonal (3, 5, 7) defines the carnal human interests: temperament in sexual life, the desire to dress nicely, and the desire to have good food. The main value of this line is the intimate life of a person, which entails his temperament and need for intimacy. This issue is one of the most important; temperamental incompatibility often leads to the disintegration of the family.

The importance of this line in the family life lies in the fact that the initial incentive of creating a family is the desire of two people to be together as man and woman (here we do not take sexual deviation). After the family is formed, this often fades into the background.

When selecting a mate, do not put too much trust in appearance as it is often deceptive. Strong arms and strong shoulders do not mean sexual activity or strength. This is especially true for women who have strong diagonal (3, 5, 7). It is desirable that the man will be one number stronger than a woman or have the same number of figures in the diagonal.

The information provided is useful, but remember that everything depends on you and you can't rely merely on calculation. People are changing every day so data can't adjust so quickly. Try to speak to person and see the features of the character, do you like them, do they suit your personality, and then make conclusions about your comparability.

Also, don't worry if the calculations show something unfavorable, though you've been with your lover for a while. The relationships need consensus. With this information available you will always have a safety net, you know what to expect from your beloved half. You will know how to act in case of misunderstanding or in negative situations that happen in our life.
